The Serviceman's Corner

Greetings to all members of the Canadian Legion, His Majesty's armed forces and all true and loyal Canadians. It is my intention from time to time through the columns of this newspaper to discuss the various issues which are so important to the future of the ex-servicemen and women. The privilege is mine to be your representative on the provincial council of the Canadian Legion, and as such I welcome any enquiries or problems which may come to your attention at any time.

For the information of all new veterans you have two representatives on the provincial council of the Canadian Legion, J. Harper Prowse, MLA, who is the second vice-president and also a member of the provincial legislature, and J. O. Starritt, new veterans representative.

First let me extend to all members of the armed forces the most hearty good wishes of the Canadian Legion for a speedy and successful return to civilian life. It has been our purpose to see that the proper stage has been set to insure your successful rehabilitation, and it has been due to no small effort on the part of the Canadian Legion that the present legislation is in force for your benefit. However, we do realize that there is much to be desired, and with this knowledge and your unflinching support we will continue to represent your case to the powers that control your destiny to the best of our ability.

I would like to extend a very sincere invitation to all veterans of this war to join the nearest branch of the Canadian Legion, and thus continue to serve their fellow men in times of peace as well as in time of war. I need not impress upon you the necessity of having some medium through which we may discuss our common problems, and devise ways and means to solve these difficulties. It is very important that we have a strong united body if we are to attain the recognition to which we are entitled.

Let me warn you that there has been in the past a few who desire to set up new organizations of veterans of this war. In fact there were two such organizations in existence in this province. However, I am happy to say that they are now all members of the Canadian Legion. The old but true axiom, "United we stand, divided we fall," applies most emphatically to our own future, individually and collectively.

Again may I state there is an element at large among us who would advocate our entry into the political field. This would be one of the greatest mistakes we could ever make. We are not and never have been a political body, despite the efforts of some to use us as a political football. It is very necessary for us to maintain our own identity, not only for our own future but for the future of Canada. Individually, yes, we should take an interest in the political affairs of our country, if we are to continue to fulfill our responsibilities as citizens. It would appear that this country was good enough to fight for. It should also be good enough to claim our interest in domestic affairs. So let us endeavor to put away our indifference and make Canada a nation second to none.

I leave these few thoughts with you, knowing that we can count on your active and whole-hearted support in the future. It would be most gratifying if anyone wishes to have any particular information or question discussed in this column. This is your column, so please make use of it.—J.O.S.

HOME SOON

CPL. DAVID SMITH

Fish & Game Notes

FISH & GAME ASSN. NOTES

The crow and magpie campaign ended on June 30, and 33 members took advantage of the extra shotgun shell allowance. Forty pairs of crow feet were sent in, for which five cents a pair was allowed. It is hoped that the boys will continue to get rid of more crows regardless of the extra shell allowance.

The writer had occasion to hear Mr. Charlie Campbell, director of publicity for the province, in Edmonton, a couple of weeks ago when he gave an address on safe shooting. Mr. Campbell is interested in having small-bore rifle clubs formed throughout the province. These clubs would promote competitions among the boys of the different districts, the purpose being to encourage safe handling of rifles among boys, and to keep down the rodent menace. He mentioned the case of twenty-four boys, all under 15 years of age, who, after three nights practice with .22 rifles, hit the bull's-eye with 97% efficiency. None of these boys had ever shot with a rifle. What would they do with a gopher as a target?

We have heard that Tom Yates, our local fish warden, has planted 10,000 fry in the waters at Blairmore. More will be planted in the Coleman area in the near future. Give them a chance to grow and we may have some fish some day. It's a good idea to mark your rod with an eight inch measure, and place back, DON'T THROW, those with eight inches. Handle your fish carefully if you think they may be under-size.

Preparations are going ahead for our first annual picnic, of which you will be hearing more later. Tickets are now on sale for our raffle. The prizes are being donated by the Coleman Hardware and Pattinson's Hardware. Get your ticket.

Encourage that boy of yours not to kill any under-sized fish. He is tomorrow's fisherman.

CHILD'S PLAYHOUSE NOW BEING RAFFLED

Coleman Lions club is now selling tickets at 25c per ticket on a child's playhouse in order to raise funds to promote community activities.

The playhouse was built by Bob. Pattinson, aided by George Derbyshire and a few other members of the Lions club. It is painted in white with red shingles, and is on display at the west side of the local Legion club.

The playhouse measures approximately 7 by 10 and will gladden the heart of some youngster who may be lucky enough to have it placed in the back yard.

Tickets can be secured from any member of the Lions club or by calling at Journal office.

Children Enjoyed Sports Day On Monday

High School Won First Money in Softball Final Against West Coleman.

Kiddies from all over town gathered at the Central school grounds at 10 a.m. on Monday to take part in the parade which officially opened Coleman Dominion Day sports. Each child was given refreshment tickets which entitled it to free refreshments at the sports field.

A complete schedule of races was run off in addition to other track events. Four teams were entered in the softball. In the semi-finals High School defeated Pucketers and West Coleman defeated the Elks. In the final High School defeated West Coleman in a pitchers' duel 3-2.

Red Cross Notes

The following shipment was sent to Calgary on Tuesday, July 3: Three pairs boys' socks, 2 pairs men's socks, 1 seaman's sweater, 5 pairs girls' panties and dresses, 4 pairs girls' panties, 1 girl's skirt.

A letter received from headquarters recently suggests that we make plans to close our work rooms on July 1 for six weeks at least, and we hope, for two months. We should tell our workers that we have not as yet received any information from Ottawa as to possible requirements for our Pacific forces. An emergency may arise which would necessitate calling workers back. We shall not call them back for anything else.

Extracts from letter: "It is because we think such calls are more likely to come late in the summer than early that we urge the six weeks be planned to begin at an early date."

"Provision should be made by branches to issue work during the summer months. Branches should have enough work on hand at end of June to keep their knitters busy all summer."

"The information should be clear cut to your workers that all Red Cross work rooms and, we hope, affiliated sewing groups, will re-open in the autumn."

"There is a large amount of work planned for the liberated countries of Europe."

Evening Red Cross Group

During the past winter the Evening Red Cross Group met twice monthly in the Council Chambers, and the following work was accomplished:

152 handkerchiefs hemmed, 40 triangular bandages, 39 housewives completed, 31 diapers, 26 rolled bandages, 13 children's dresses, 5 children's panties, 8 children's shirts, 3 nightgowns, 1 blouse, 2 pairs pyjamas, 6 pairs sheets, 11 pairs hospital socks, 1 pair shorts, 3 quilts, 12 scarves, 9 pairs knitted socks, 1 sailor's sweater, 4 donated baby sets.

In addition to this, time was spent in sewing on buttons and making buttonholes, turning coat hems, etc.

SUMMER HOLIDAYS ARE HERE

Despite the fact that schools do not officially close for the annual summer vacation till tomorrow, July 6, there has been a holiday spirit prevalent among local students for the past few days.

The past week has seen teachers take their students hiking and the classes have been more or less at a standstill. Some students have already left on the long summer vacation.

After Friday's school classes have concluded the school and school grounds will become strangely quiet after ten months of youthful shouting and laughter. The decorators will then take over to freshen the walls and ceiling preparatory to another school term commencing Sept. 10.

Statement by S. M. Wedd, President, The Canadian Bankers' Association

Toronto. — "Starting sometime this month the banks, through their branches all over Canada, are called upon to perform still another service to the public. They must and will be ready to negotiate the new government cheques issued under the family allowance legislation," said S. M. Wedd, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, in a statement issued here.

Official estimate is that 1,466,000 individual cheques will be issued by the government each month," he continued. "Most of these cheques will be presented at the branch banks for encashment or deposit."

"All government cheques are cashed by the banks without charge."

"The banks willingly accept this added opportunity for serving Canadians many of whom, perhaps, for the first time, will come into contact with the banks and with the useful services they perform."

"We shall welcome all of these people and aim to cash family allowance cheques with speed and efficiency. At the same time it is my duty to stress the need of the banks for co-operation on the part of all who receive these cheques."

"Recipients of family allowance cheques can help themselves and the banks by remembering four simple requirements:

1. The need for proper identification at the bank.
2. The need to make sure that cheque is correctly endorsed.
3. The need to guard against losing cheque after endorsing and before cashing it.

4. The importance of going to the bank in the morning hours if possible.

"First of all, of course, is identification—a bank must be sure that the person presenting the cheque is the right person; therefore, if the holder of a family allowance cheque is not known in the local bank, he or she should take into the bank when presenting it somebody who is known in the branch. This will help to obviate delay and misunderstanding."

"Next, is the endorsement on a cheque—it must be endorsed exactly as it is made out to the payee; after it is endorsed the payee should take no chances on losing it or having it stolen before it is cashed."

"Recipients can help very greatly also by using the banks during the easier hours of the day rather than during the busiest hours."

"No doubt many cheques will reach the banks through merchants who cash them for their own customers. Merchants and storekeepers would be well advised to make sure of the identification of any person offering a cheque and to make sure also that the cheque is endorsed exactly as it is made out."

Mr. and Mrs. A. Soley, of Edmonton, were the recent guests of the former's sister, Mrs. J. Kellock, and Mr. Kellock. They left for their home on Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Kellock, who will visit relatives for a few weeks in the capital city.

Mrs. D. McLean and baby, of Pincher Creek, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lal. Snowdon last week.

Mrs. Jack Nash Won Two Return Tickets to Victoria Plus $125 Cash; Carnival Big Success

Chenille Bedspreads Big Favorites at Bingo Booth; Curlers and Elks' Building Funds Given Boost.

Mrs. Jack Nash, with ticket number 6049, was the big winner at the carnival sponsored by Coleman curlers and Elks on Saturday and Monday evenings, as she won the major prize of two return tickets to Victoria via Trans Canada Airlines plus $125 in cash or the alternative prize of $250 in cash. Mrs. Nash, with her husband, is spending a holiday in Calgary and up till Tuesday morning was still unaware of her good fortune.

Good crowds attended the carnival on both evenings and all booths were well patronized. With the exception of the major-prize booth and the money games, the hams, bacon and blanket booths were given the best play. The chenille bedspreads proved very popular at the bingo booth and the winners were wide grins as the beautiful spreads were placed in their arms.

As a result of the carnival, community effort on the part of both curlers and Elks was furthered, as each will place their share of the proceeds in their respective building funds. The curlers will now stucco their new rink, while the Elks will be a little closer to their objective of a new and modern hall.

Both organizations take this opportunity of thanking local citizens, as well as those of other Pass towns, who attended the carnival and patronized the booths. Their support is sincerely appreciated.

URGE GASOLINE SERVICE WITHOUT RESTRICTION

Facilities for motorists obtaining gasoline at any time at service stations will be sought by the Alberta Motor Association. Such was decided at a recent semi-annual meeting of the provincial directors of the AMA, who will recommend accordingly to the various provincial branches in urging that such representations be made to the municipal authorities.

Feeling of the AMA directors is that there should be no action taken by municipal councils that would make it compulsory for all gasoline stations to be closed. In other words, there should be facilities to obtain gasoline made available to motorists at any time.

For instance, many tourists will be coming to Alberta this year from other provinces and states. It would be a serious drawback to this business if these visitors were faced with the problem at certain times they would be unable to obtain gasoline anywhere in the community.

VETERANS AND EMPLOYMENT

War veterans would be well advised to be thinking about a job before their hard-earned gratuity money slips away, Fred J. White, regional superintendent, Unemployment Insurance Commission, Winnipeg, stated this week. "It is natural that after his war experience the ex-serviceman should want to relax and enjoy some rehabilitation leave, but it is a good plan for him to keep in mind his responsibilities for the future," he said.

Mr. White explained that when a man is about to be discharged, he is interviewed at the discharge depot by a representative of the local employment office, who advises him of his rights to reinstatement, his rights under the Unemployment Insurance Act, and opportunities for employment. This interview is more or less preliminary, because at this point the man is more concerned about getting home than he is in getting a job, he said. But once his leave is over, whether he has a former job to go back to or not, he should lose no time in calling at his local employment office where, after he has stated his preference for the type of work he wishes to do, he is referred to the section handling such employment opportunities and directed to suitable work if it is available.

"It is the duty of the head of the registration unit to follow up all referrals of veterans to jobs," Mr. White said, "and in a general way to look after the interests of all veterans who come to the office." He also pointed out that as a matter of government policy, veterans have a preference in referral to employment by the local office.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Seaman are Lethbridge visitors.

Mrs. M. E. Cornett left on Wednesday for Vancouver, where she will spend her summer vacation.

Mrs. F. Ferrari and son Bobby, of Lethbridge, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Montalbetti.

Pte. GEORGE DERBYSHIRE, MM who is expected home this week end from overseas. According to local Legion officials he was scheduled to arrive in Calgary this morning. His father has been in Calgary the past several days awaiting his son's arrival. George has been a prisoner of war for the past year, and won his decoration on the Italian front.

WEDDINGS

GALVON-SIKORA

A very quiet, yet pretty wedding was solemnized at the Holy Ghost church on Saturday, June 30, at 10 a.m. when Mary Ann, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sikora, of Coleman, became the bride of Joseph, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Galvon, of Blairmore. Rev. L. Sullivan read the marriage lines.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. Frances Maurer, looked beautiful in a gown of white sheer with satin front bodice and a long tulle veil held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of roses, carnations and snapdragons. Attending the bride were the Misses Ann Galvon, Joanna Yagos, Ann Salus and Mary Sikora. They chose gowns of blue crepe, yellow and pink net with matching chapel veils. Their bouquets were of carnations and sweet peas. Sisters of the bride and groom, Elsie Sikora and Albina Galvon, were flower girls. Attending the groom were Martin Galvon, Alois Lencucha, Joe Dobek and Joe Sikora. Mrs. John Bachelet, of Fernie, was matron of honor and for the occasion chose a brown floral crepe with matching accessories. During the signing of the register the choir sang "Ave Maria."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home, where only immediate relatives and friends were present. The rooms were gayly decorated with streamers and centering the bride's table was a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake.

The happy couple left on Sunday for a honeymoon to be spent at Spokane and other U.S. points and upon their return will reside at Blairmore, where the groom is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Montalbetti are spending a vacation at Vancouver and will spend a few days with the latter's brother, Mr. Angelo Gentile, and Mrs. Gentile.

WORLD HAPPENINGS
BRIEFLY TOLD

Four Italian provinces have been returned to the jurisdiction of the Italian government. They are Florence, Livorno, Pisa and Pistoia.

Princess Alice, wife of the governor-general, has accepted an honorary life membership in the national council of women.

Sir Edward Bailey, 63, director of the geological survey of Great Britain, has retired. During the siege of Malta he flew there to locate extra water supplies.

Dominion government employees bought a record total of $19,400,000 in eighth victory loan bonds. Purchases in the seventh loan totalled $18,800,000.

Eros, the famous Piccadilly Circus statue, has spent the war under a protective covering in a house at Englefield Green, Surrey, it has been disclosed.

Homeless residents of Tokyo will exist "for the duration" in "dug-out" homes provided to take the place of dwellings destroyed by Superfortress fire raids.

Proposals to raise domestic service in Britain to the status of industry through establishment of a nationally-subsidized training school for maids were made in a government report.

Scores of secret arms and explosive dumps to be used by Nazi "werewolves" in waging an underground war of death and sabotage were uncovered in the forests and mountains of Bavaria and Bohemia by Allied intelligence officers.

Germany lost an average of one submarine every three days between Sept. 3, 1939 and May 8, 1945, official records at London disclosed. A total of 713 U-boats was sunk by British, United States and other Allied forces in that period.

Bridge Engineer

Harry S. Rimmington Receives Appointment From C.N.R.

Harry S. Rimmington, who has been in the engineering department of the McKenzie and Mann Company, the Canadian Northern and Canadian National railways since 1907, has been appointed bridge engineer for the western region, Canadian National railways, according to W. C. Owens, general manager for the company. Mr. Rimmington succeeds W. Walke, who retired recently under the pension rules of the company.

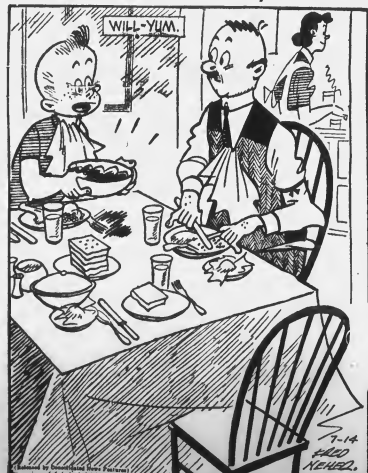

Mr. Rimmington started railway work as a rodman in Winnipeg in 1907 and later became draughtsman. For several years he carried on this work with the Canadian Northern and McKenzie and Mann interests. In 1912, he was promoted to designing engineer and remained at this work until 1932 when he was appointed assistant engineer. He held this position until his recent appointment as bridge engineer for the western region.

FARM WAGES

Farm wages continued an upward trend during the past year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa reported. At May 15 wages were higher in all provinces than a year previous. Rates at that date were approximately the same as August, 1944, which is considered the high point for the year.

The Clinic was held in the restaurant of Trans-Canada Air Lines, where the delegates were later entertained at a buffet supper. Mr. English acted as host.

Should Be Treated

Hay Fever Sufferers Cannot Always Run Away To Escape It

Hay fever sufferers who keep going north for summer relief instead of medicating themselves are going to end up with "no civilized place in North America left to go for immunity," says Dr. Buenaventura Jimenez, University of Michigan allergist.

Dr. Jimenez explained that after a few years in a northern town the victim becomes sensitized to the pollen of the area and has to move farther north. If he keeps moving, he would soon run out of both northern and high altitude areas to go to for relief.

The allergist recommended diagnosis and home treatment to defeat the pollen by immunization.

Nazi Inventors Were Working On Rocket Bomb In 1932

German inventors of the dread V-2 rocket bomb said they fired 3,800 of the projectiles against Allied targets, according to an interview in The London Daily Express.

Doctor Werner von Braun and Maj. Gen. Walter Dornberger said that they sent more rockets against the vital supply port of Antwerp than against London.

The two, interviewed at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, said that they had been working on rockets since as long ago as 1922. Von Braun told of two meetings with Adolf Hitler where he showed films of their experiments to convince the fuhrer that London could be bombed.

Prisoner Of War

How He Was Mistreated By His German Captors

Fifty-seven days in solitary confinement was the fate of Mr. L. P. J. McManus, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McManus, Gore street, Perth, Ont., while being grilled by German interrogators after he was shot down in the North Sea.

Mr. L. P. J. McManus was skipper of a Halifax attacking enemy shipping off the Norwegian coast. The Halifax crew spotted an enemy convoy sneaking around the Norwegian coast, and picking out one vessel, they dove to the attack. Just as the final run began the ship turned on all its lights.

Thinking it must be a neutral Swedish ship, McManus pulled the aircraft up. As they passed over, the crafty German captain opened fire at point-blank range and the next thing the pilot knew he was swimming in the water.

The aircraft dughy burnt in the crash and both pilots found their Mae West jackets leaking. Luckily the German ship stopped, picked them out of the water and took them back to Norway.

McManus was soon sent to Germany for questioning and although shot down in October, 1944, he was still in solitary confinement at Christmas.

Penned up in a six by ten foot cell with no air, no light and no bed, the prisoners were brought out for questioning at irregular intervals and if no information was given they were thrown back into their lonely cells.

McManus told of the hot and cold treatment. The Germans heated the room but cut off all the heat at night. "We got used to that," McManus said. For nearly two months the coastal command pilot lived on a daily ration that wouldn't make the beginnings of one good meal—two slices of bread a bowl of soup and if he was lucky a greasy hump of margarine. McManus admitted he looked pretty haggard when he came out after the Germans gave up questioning.

For 67 days the Perth flier had no blankets and at first had no clothing. For all his discomfort food seemed to be all he thought about. He recently reached a returned prisoner of war reception centre in England.

Britain Needs Eggs

Hopes Western Canada May Supply Half Of Quantity Required

The United Kingdom will need 1,000,000,000 eggs this year and Canadian farmers can go all out in egg production, said John A. Peacock, director of egg supplies for the British ministry of food, in an interview.

Mr. Peacock said it is hoped western Canada will supply half of the quantity needed.

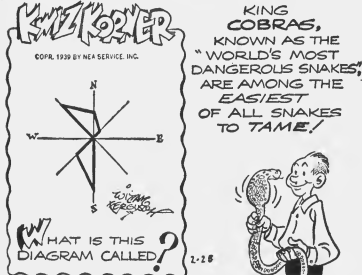

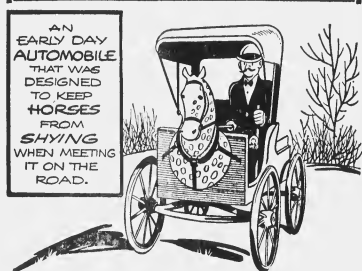

W. A. Brown, chief of the Dominion poultry marketing and production service, said "the British government is going to pay six cents a dozen more for eggs than it did last fall with the increase effective from Sept. 15 until Dec. 31," he added.

The Idea Remains

If Hitler Is Dead Germans Still Believe His Teachings

Without seeking to appear too learned about the mysteries of the mind, we should like to suggest that, whatever the fate of Hitler the man, the Hitlerian idea transcended and will continue to transcend its embodiment in der Fuehrer. The Hitler myth is something that exists in the minds of the Germans who believed in him. What happens to it hereafter, how it will develop, will depend on what happens to those believing Germans and will be affected hardly at all by the discovery of a burned and blackened corpse.—Baltimore Sun.

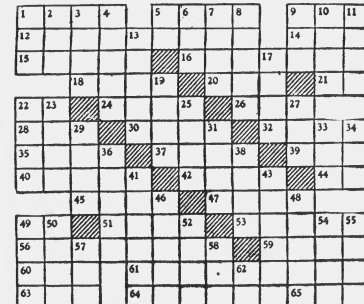

INTRODUCED HIGH HEELS

The conceit of Louis XIV of France is responsible for the rise of high heels, it is said. The king was distressed over the fact that he was shorter than most of the men who surrounded him. He ordered shoes made with heels that added several inches to his height. The style spread throughout Europe, though women, rather than men, adopted it widely.

MAN'S FAILURES AND GOD'S PROMISES

Memory Selection: While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease. Genesis 8:22.

Lesson: Genesis 3-9.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 103, 1-13.

GENESIS 6.5 And Jehovah saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. 6 And it repented Jehovah that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart. 7 And Jehovah said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the ground, both man, and beast, and creeping things, and birds of the heavens; for it repenteth me that I have made them.

8.2 And God remembered Noah, and all the beasts, and all the cattle that were with him in the ark; and God made a wind to pass over the earth, and the waters assuaged. 4 And the ark rested on the seventh month on the seventeenth day of the month, upon the mountains of Ararat.

13 And Noah went forth, and his sons, and his wife, and his sons' wives with him:

20 And Noah builded an altar unto Jehovah, and took of every clean beast, and of every clean bird, and offered burnt-offerings on the altar. 21 And Jehovah smelled the sweet savor: and Jehovah said in his heart, I will not curse again the ground any more for man's sake, for that the imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth; neither will I again smite any more everything living, as I have done. 22 While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, day and night shall not cease.

Macdonald's FINE CUT

OUR COMPLETE
SHORT STORY—
WEDDING DAY
By W. J. THOMAS
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Standing very still, her eyes on the little path which wound through mountain laurel stirring faintly in the warm morning breeze, Helen Knowles said, "You shouldn't have come here, Bob, not on my wedding day."

Bob Newbold's voice was low, but very firm. "I don't think Lloyd Tyson can ever make you happy."

Helen felt her lips tremble, kicked a dainty foot at a pebble. Her chin went up. "I know what I'm doing, Bob."

"Even with his whole blasted family smug from five generations of too much money and doing the same things in the same way—hating the idea of just a business woman 'getting' their boy Lloyd?"

"He loves me." Saying it to Bob Newbold was torture.

"Who doesn't?" he persisted, smiling and pushing his unruly light hair back from his forehead. "Even I, a radio ham who aspires to be a great architect, love you too. That's why I drove here, starting my two-weeks' vacation land cruising in a flivver. Yes, perhaps he loves you, but do you love him?"

"I'm very grateful to him. Good-bye Bob. Only . . . I'd like you to wish me luck."

"I do, with all my heart. But remember, some day, and soon, you're going to find yourself smothered by the Tysons' old smugness." He scented a bit obstinate.

Helen left him, revolving his words in her mind. Why had he come here today of all days after she had tried for months to keep tantalizing visions of him out of her mind?

He was right, so right! Already she knew. The Tysons had insisted on having the wedding here, instead of at Goldale. And she and her mother had allowed them to have their way.

Doubts were assailing her when she reached the Big House—that's what everyone called the Tysons' home, because it exactly described it. A big house. Big, with every bit of furniture and every picture—precise and formal and proper.

Something was wrong, now. She sensed it the moment she stepped on the high pillared porch.

Inside was bedlam—in a restrained and wholly proper way.

Lloyd's mother was wringing her hands. "Everything is gone! What do you know about it, Helen? What shall we do?"

"Your trousseau, your clothes!" Lloyd interrupted.

Helen sat down, bewildered. "Will someone please tell me what all this is about?"

Helen's mother was the only calm one in the household. "Your trousseau, Helen, has disappeared. Stolen, apparently. And your gown, tulle veil—everything. I have persuaded the Tysons that you know nothing about their disappearance. I have told them to telephone the police . . ."

"How can the police help in time for the ceremony?" demanded Lloyd.

Helen went to Lloyd. "I don't understand it, but it doesn't matter, does it, dear? After all, clothes don't make the wedding."

Mrs. Tyson was emphatic. "All of our friends here! The church decorated! And the bride wearing—what? Sweater and slacks?"

"Lloyd!" pleaded Helen. But her fiancé, despite Helen's appeal, stood by his mother, very stiff, hands in his pockets, silent.

For a moment it seemed strange to her that she was not hurt because he made no effort to oppose his mother. Then it didn't seem so strange as she realized that the Tysons could no more have their wedding plans changed than she could go through life without Bob Newbold.

Still, it wasn't easy to take Lloyd's ring from her finger, as she was doing, with all those eyes upon her. As if she were guilty of some disgraceful crime.

"Here, Lloyd, your ring!" she was saying. "For all your considerations kindnesses, thank you; I only . . ."

She felt weak.

Her mother said, "Run along," and her soft brown eyes were the only untroubled things in a storm which was rapidly subsiding. "Take a walk. I'll straighten everything out here."

Helen went around the long hedge without a backward glance, quickened her steps over the huddled path. She was spurred by a vague, but compelling hope. Tears came to her eyes.

Through a mist suddenly she saw Bob sitting on the grass, gazing out absently over the patchwork of farm fields below. Then, blissfully feeling his arms holding her close, she told him.

"This can still be your wedding day," he said, grinning. "I'll be the victim."

"Would you marry me in sweater and slacks?"

"I would, but it won't be necessary."

He led her to his car, parked by a wild emerald tree, and pointed inside.

There she saw her white net gown, tulle veil and the rest of her trousseau.

"I had to do something to make you see the light, Helen. I knew you'd never be happy as Mrs. Lloyd Tyson. So, in the wee small hours this morning I removed—stole, if you please—these things. Sorry?"

"No, just plain happy. But how did you ever get inside the house?"

"I didn't." He grinned again. "Inside job."

Helen's eyes widened. "You mean—?"

"Of course! Who would help me but your mother?"

The Indians Knew

Quebec Red Men Were The First To Point The Way To Vitamin C

The Indians of old Quebec didn't know it but back 400 years ago when they helped Jacques Cartier's scurvy-stricken men during a bitter Canadian winter they were pointing the way to vital vitamin "C."

The Indians showed Cartier how to cure the men of his 1536 exploration party with a bitter brew from evergreen branches which contained this then unknown vitamin.

Now scientific proof that the branches of this tree contain the life-saving vitamin is being developed by scientists at the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children. At the hospital it was discovered spruce trees contain vitamin C in more than twice the proportion of oranges.

Food Shortage

Says Nothing Mysterious About The World Shortage

Food Minister Llewellyn declared that there was "nothing mysterious" about the world food shortage and "no one has made the world's supply of food disappear overnight."

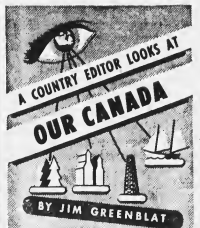

In their order of importance he listed these causes of short supply:

1. Shortage of farm help due to call-up of men for Allied armies.
2. Lack of fertilizers in producing countries owing to lack of ships.
3. Drought in Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, South America and the Caribbean area.
4. Increased demands due to military forces and needs of liberated countries where production declined under the Germans.

OFFER PRIZE

The council of the Royal Society of Arts is offering a prize of £50 (about $225) to any person of British or allied nationality who has invented a publication or diagram considered an advancement in the science or practice of navigation, between January 1, 1940 and December 31, 1945. It was announced in London.

A COUNTRY EDITOR LOOKS AT OUR CANADA
BY JIM GREENBLAT

• The long late spring with its unusual chilly climate this year, got optimists down in Manitoba reminiscing and when Gilbert Plains recalled that they had staged a curling game there on May 1, 1907, the town of Grandview old-timers put 'em to shame by bringing evidence of a curling match there on May 24th of that year. Then Campbellton, N.B., proudly put forward its snowstorm of June 1st this year.

• From here and there in Canada:

In the Trossachs, Sask., district, ducks have been found nesting as high as 14 feet up in trees. No explanation has yet been forthcoming why ducks in this area should prefer to nest in trees instead of on the ground. . . . Public spirited citizens at Dawson Creek, fabulous while the Alcan highway was being built, have donated $10,000 to build a swimming pool. . . . William A. Mann of Upsalquitch, N.B., plowed up a big silver watch in good state of preservation, proved to be his father's who had lost it ploughing designed without the aid of the experts—the architect and the interior decorator.

• In the little town of Altona, Man., sits an editor like many others in Canada, boosting for something bigger and better to come out of the holocaust of war. In an editorial he nurses: "Everyone of us needs both vision and a program, in business, on the farm, in the home, wherever we may be. A child has visions of a picnic and plans for one. An adult envisages a home and spends a long time planning it. So it should also be with town-planning and community building. If we only dream about the need and do no planning, we will never have a better community. And planning alone is not sufficient either. We must 'hatch our wagen to a star' and then prepare practical plans which may make some of those dreams come true."

• The complications of business doesn't deter the editor of the Dauphin, Man., Herald from getting statistical. It's a Canadian National town, so he gives his readers this interesting story: "In one year, the Canadian National Railway issues about 2½ million pay checks to over 100,000 employees. To complicate matters there are 3,500 Smiths, of which 267 are William Smiths, 238 John Smiths and 152 James Smiths. There are 2,000 Browns, many with the same first name. Then there are 'Early and Last', 'Beck and Call', 'First and Last', 'Begin and End', and in the New York office—a Lalk, Brooks and a Storm."

• With housing to play such a great part in the post-war period we hear so much about, the Kirkland Lake (Ont.) Northern News takes the subject of style of houses, in an interesting editorial, stressing that mass-produced houses need not result in the deadliness which has characterized our streets. Community action must be taken to prevent this of the past by careful scrutiny of some of the successful British and American town plans now a reality. Winds up the editorial with this pertinent comment: "Planned town units, functional public buildings, parks and other projects in the name of beauty and social well-being are setting the trend in this direction and the small town should not feel that such plans are too ambitious. Health LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

MANY DEATHS BY DROWNING SAID TO BE NEGLIGENT

With the summer vacation season upon us, the Health League of Canada points out that many deaths from drowning can be prevented—first by running no unnecessary risks and second by the prompt and long-continued use of artificial respiration methods when accidents occur.

Several years ago there was an intense agitation for more care in rescue efforts. It was stated that victims died because artificial respiration was discontinued too soon. They died because all necessary efforts were not made to revive them—because the possibilities of artificial respiration still were not fully realized.

There are well-authenticated reports of artificial respiration being successful after as many as five hours. In cases of electrical shock, at least one instance is known of a patient being revived after being apparently dead for eight hours. This being true, it is an extraordinary thing that reports still come in of artificial respiration being discontinued after a mere half hour of effort.

It is pointed out that even if the victim has been in the water for as long as 30 minutes, there is a chance that life is not extinct—that proper resuscitation methods have a chance of bringing back consciousness.

Also, it is emphasized, artificial respiration must be started as quickly as possible and continued for a long period—six hours or longer. It is not until rigor mortis sets in that life can be assumed to be extinct. One of the most documented cases of late revival is that of a child, brought back to life after five hours' active work and hours after the child had been pronounced dead.

It is also important that those using artificial respiration be sure that air enters the lungs properly while they are working on the patient. There is always a possibility that a spasm of the larynx occurred and that the victim suffocated rather than drowned.

The most popular method of artificial respiration is the Schaefer method. In this, the body is raised gently by the waist to allow water to drain from the lungs and stomach. It is then placed in a prone position with the head and chest lower than the rest, if possible. The head should be placed on one side on one of the patient's arms. The rescuer kneels astride the victim and applies pressure rhythmically in the region of the lungs. If possible, the patient should be kept warm with blankets and hot water bottles.

Rescuers should remember these five points:

1. Clear the patient quickly.
2. Start artificial respiration without delay.
3. Use warmth if possible.
4. Do not stop artificial respiration until the patient breathes or there are definite signs of the onset of rigor mortis.
5. After the patient is breathing do not allow him to sit up, stand, or walk, but transport him in a lying down position and put him to bed.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The Town Band

At the present time an energetic committee is soliciting funds from various organizations in town for the purpose of buying equipment for a pipe band. Its efforts are meeting with success, which is only right and proper from a town the size of Coleman.

The question arises "what is the brass band doing to keep functioning?" It reorganized last week, but to date little or nothing has been heard from it. It appears that the brass band suffers from lack of publicity. Since VE-Day its members have already lost interest and practices are once again a thing of the past. It has no money, needs new music and its instruments should be given needed repairs.

What the band requires is proper presentation of its requirements and a concerted effort made each year to raise a specified sum of money. The public is not expected to know the cost of band music. A donation of ten, twenty-five or even fifty dollars may look big to the general public, but when they are aware that a piece of the cheapest music costs $45 to cover all band members, then it gives food for thought.

There is no reason in the world that should the brass band get itself an energetic committee it could not raise three hundred to five hundred dollars a year. The town would then benefit by evening concerts on main streets a few nights a week, Sunday evening band concerts could be enjoyed, a band would always be available for local public functions, and therefore it would be an asset to the town.

There is room for both a pipe band and a brass band in Coleman. Pipe Major James Moore is working six days a week to get his band ready, all he requires is financial support. Bandmaster Jim Lowe is ready and willing to train bandmen, he must have support if he is to achieve success.

School Is Out

Shortly after 9 o'clock tomorrow morning there will be the rush of youngsters, shouting and shrieking as they leave their classrooms, thus heralding the close of another school term. The high school students will leave the rooms more quietly, but with the same throb of excitement that the term has ended as that which prevails among the younger students.

The smaller children will look forward to two months of glorious holidays, some leaving almost immediately with parents on annual vacations to other cities, towns, farms or ranches. To those high school students who are saying good-bye for the last time and are about to launch themselves into a competitive world it is a time of serious thought. The days of care free life when Dad and Mom looked after their troubles and expenses are now over. Responsibility starts to rest on their young shoulders, they must get a job, they must try and be successful in their chosen vocation, they must fend for themselves. Too often young men leaving school find themselves in jobs which they dislike. It is then that ambition and ability comes to the fore to mark a man as to whether he will be successful in this competitive world or be one who will travel along in the same rut until old age creeps upon him.

Should Plan for Bigger Sports Day

Does Coleman citizens desire bigger and better July 1 sports? Those who each year drive to Macleod or other towns sponsoring highly publicized stampede events obviously do otherwise they would stay at home and patronize our quiet little sports. Those who do remain at home, through necessity or otherwise, would most certainly enjoy sports with more life to them.

The present July 1 sports day sponsor is Coleman Sports Association. The Association's objective is to give a day to those youngsters who remain in town. There is no doubt that the youngsters do enjoy themselves a little with pop, hot dogs and the few nickels and dimes which they pick up in the races.

However, we honestly believe the large majority would like to see Coleman come to the front in southern Alberta with a sports program. It is not to be expected that the Sports Association will do it, but should some organization come forward prepared to spend money towards improving the sports field, enticing some of the province's best amateur stars and, yes, promote an annual auto derby with a prize that would attract auto racers from all over the province. It must have some big attraction in order to compete against big stampedes which are run off during the same day. The first few years might see the sponsor take a loss, but perseverance and an ever widening reputation would surely see those first years' losses being made up in surplusses once the sports day was firmly established.

TEX. LARRIMORE BACK FROM OVERSEAS

The many friends of Tex Larrimore were pleased to see him arrive in town on Sunday after several years with the RCAF overseas. Tex has two weeks furlough in front of him before reporting back for another assignment. He has completed two tours over Europe and was a radio engineer. He plans on going to the Pacific.

Upon looking over the old home town he remarked that with the exception of many new faces it was still about the same as he had left it.

Cigarette Fund Notes

Hello Filks: Stationed at Ham-burg now and still receiving the cigs regularly. Haven't got to Berlin, but will be tenting here for some time yet, so will maybe pay it a visit. Sure is nice to know any plane we hear is a friendly one. Well hope to have a drink with you all this Xmas.—"Dogie." PS: Hurrah for the wooden soldier, he did as much as any two of us here.

Dear Friends: I am still in the hospital, where I have been since March 26, but I am feeling much better and hope I can be home soon. Hope everyone in Coleman is fine. Last week I received 300 cigs in here, so thank you all very much. I guess a few should be home by now. Cheerio.—H. Hirsch.

Dear Sirs: I received two shipments of cigarettes from you last week and I wish to thank one and all who make possible these greatly appreciated gifts. Hoping to be with you all very soon.—Roy Beddington.

Dear Sirs: Thank you sincerely for your latest and ever faithful cartons of cigarettes. Shall see you all apres la guerre.—Joe Sikora,

Dear Sirs: Thanks a million for the cigs, which I am receiving regularly. Here's hoping to see you all soon as it looks like things are just about finished here.—W. Anderson.

Dear Friends: Many thanks for the Sweet Caps received today. My regards and thanks to all at home and hope to be homebound bound soon.—Howard Campbell.

Dear Sirs: Received another 300 cigs from you today, so thanks a million. I can always count on them coming through o.k. Well the big problem on everyone's mind now is "when are we going to see Canada again?" It will take a long time to demobilize us all I guess, but I signed up for the Pacific, so I hope to be home soon unless the Japs quit fighting. Well, this is all for now, so thanks again for the cigs. So long for now.—E. Goulding.

Dear Friends: Just a few lines to thank you for the shipment of cigarettes which arrived a few days ago. Also, I wish to thank you for those that arrived a month ago, at which time things were so hectic around here that I completely forgot to write.

Have just recently returned from a short leave to Brussels, where I arrived on VE-Day. It was a sight well worth coming a long way to see and I hope that all the people back home had as enjoyable a time as we had that night. These cities over here certainly look lovely with all the lights on and after all the time we have spent in darkness it's a bit hard to get used to.

Will close now, thanking you again and wishing you all the best. As the powers that be say, "The war may be over, here, but there's still a lot of work to be done." Think I'll just dash out and do a bit of it so that I can be back amongst you before too long.—H. Eysacker.

Dear Comrades: This week I received 900 cigarettes, so I guess that puts me up on the level again since coming over to this side of the world. Our mail addressed to Italy has been delayed a little, so it is just catching up to us now. When I landed over here I was lucky to be among the first to get seven days leave in England and boy it was really grand just to hear the people speak English. It was a treat to talk to them after being in places where you have to use the sign language to explain everything. I ran into Bill Ferby a couple of weeks ago and he is looking fine. Lorry Caroe still sends the "home town" paper to me, which I really enjoy reading. I've noticed that there is quite a few hockey stars coming up in Coleman. Here's hoping we see their names in NHL lineups within the next couple of years. I'll sign off by thanking the people of Coleman for the smokes they are sending us over here.—Roy Garrett.

Dear Sirs: Received 300 Sweet Caps Friday at the most opportune moment as I was completely out. They are the first I have received since coming back to Holland. I had a very good three months in England, but was glad to get back here. The news is very good now. I guess everyone back home enjoys reading the papers these days. I am getting ready to go to Brussels sometime today for a short leave and it certainly is a wonderful city to have a leave in, but is very expensive. Say hello to everyone. Best of luck to everyone. Hope it won't be too long before we are all together again.—Oliver Baringham.

Dear Sirs: I wish to send my sincere thanks and appreciation for the 600 cigs that I received yesterday. I expect to be back home some time this year if all goes well. I imagine a lot of the boys will be back very soon. — John Kanik.

DISCONTINUATION OF COMPULSORY EMPLOYMENT TRANSFER ORDERS

Further compulsory transfers of men under the seven compulsory employment transfer orders issued in 1943 will not be made by the National Selective Service, it is announced by the minister of labor.

The seven orders, issued between May 4, 1943, and November 15 of the same year, named a lengthy list of less essential industries and occupations, and provided that all male workers from 16 to 38 years of age engaged in any of these employments would become liable for transfer to more essential employment. To April 15, this year, over 100,000 men were registered as initially coming under these orders, and 18,488 had actually been required to change jobs. Undoubtedly, in addition, a large number of those in less essential industries who had not moved into war jobs prior to the first of the compulsory orders, did so after the series of orders started to become effective.

Men already moved under the seven compulsory orders are not affected by the change now being made; they will be required to continue in their jobs, as will also men directed to employment at a time when they were out of jobs or men directed to the coal mining industry. Moreover, the authority of selective service to direct men to farm work which became effective last March, and the authority to direct men who are unemployed to essential jobs, will remain in force and will be utilized by selective service as circumstances may require.

"The compulsory employment transfer orders," Hon. Mr. Mitchell stated, "served a very useful purpose at a time when Canada's total war effort required the help of every last man we could find. The fact that fairly few of the men who were required to transfer exercised their right of appeal against the direction of selective service, indicates that the administration of these orders was well accepted. However, lifting of these orders now seems safe and is in line with the government's policy of removing wartime restrictions once they have served their purpose."

"Dear Mom"

Following is a letter written by a local young man to his mother on Mother's Day. That young man is in one of Canada's armed services where he has had time to think of his former home life and his mother as against the rough, tough life, he is forced to lead in times of war. It is printed because of its warmness of love of "dear mom."

Dear Mom:

Today is Mother's Day, so I thought it indeed a fitting tribute to sit down and write you a letter. This year I seemed to have lost track of Mother's Day due to the fact that I am so unsettled because of this special job. Other reasons entering herein also made it quite impossible to send you a gift or even a card, and for this I want to apologize. I hope you are not sorry that you didn't receive a card from me—do not think that I have forgotten all about you because I can assure you that I haven't. I am therefore writing this message to you with the hope it replaces any gift or card that I could have sent if circumstances had prevailed. Please accept this letter as a "Mother's Day Message" from your son.

Today is the day when people throughout the world have the opportunity to pay homage to one person of great distinction and merit—namely Mother. It is on this day that each person exalts himself or herself in showing his or her mother that it is an honor and a privilege to have a mother like their own. No matter what the circumstances may be on this day, all troubles and petty quarrels are laid aside and the mother is elevated to her legendary position in the home. When people give their mother gifts and send her cards of gratitude, they are trying to show in this humble manner the appreciation, gratitude, love and respect that they have for their Mother. This appreciation, love and respect is not always shown on the surface, but deep down in your heart you are always aware of it. On a day such as this, one cannot help but sit down and meditate, and turn back the pages of life. Today I did this. I went back to my childhood and almost lived again those hard days and realizing that no matter what hardships confronted me, it was always you to whom I turned for wisdom and comfort. No matter how helpless things were at times, you always faced them with a proud heart; always trying to ease these hardships for me. Oh, how hard you worked to keep me fed, clothed and comfortable. Self-sacrifice has always been one of your chief qualities. How many times have you refused food, money, comfort and hundreds of other things in life, in order to give these to me. Do not think that I shall ever forget this, Mom. Under your guiding hand and blessed with your courage and wisdom, I grew from a boy into manhood. Under your maternal care, I have been nursed when I was sick, fed when I was hungry and comforted when I was troubled. How can I ever forget this, Mom?

I have tried to be a good son to you. I have faithfully tried to adhere to your doctrine of life and have benefited from your worldly wisdom and knowledge. There have been times when I was not as good as I could have been, but Mom, as you know, no man is perfect. At times when I have not been a good son, it was not because I wanted to be bad; it was due to sheer ignorance. Today as I sit here and write, I can see how ignorant and foolish I was.—It was the inexperience and folly of youth that couldn't grasp the lessons you so ably taught. You are a good mother, and I can only thank God for being so kind to bless with such a wonderful mother.

You have done a grand job, Mom. You should be proud, because I am honestly say that I am certainly proud of you. You have done your job and you have done it well, indeed, Mom. God bless you!

FUTURE TREND OF FOREIGN POLICY IS CREATING MUCH INTEREST IN GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON.—The future trend of British foreign policy, particularly in regard to treaties with France and other western European countries, is a question stirring keen interest here.

Two highly-regarded British journals have suggested this country, like Russia, should complement its participation in the new international organization by making separate treaties.

Despite the dispute between Britain and France over the Levant, many responsible French leaders favor a new Anglo-French alliance. Recently the French consultative assembly passed a resolution asking the French government to intensify its efforts to negotiate such a pact to complement the French-Russian and British-Russian treaties.

The question, becomes, however, one of broad foreign policy and the Spectator and Observer have discussed it thoughtfully.

An article in the Spectator said Britain is faced with two choices in foreign policy. On one hand, there is the policy of making separate, but harmonious treaties of alliance with other countries.

In May, 1942, Britain made such a treaty with Russia involving not only a military alliance for the war, but also a mutual pledge of co-operation and economic assistance for at least 20 years. Since then Britain has made no further treaties.

MAY BE AVAILABLE

Space For Shipments Of Grain From Vancouver Is Likely

VANCOUVER.—The Vancouver Sun said in a newspaper story that the largest grain shipments to be made from Vancouver in the last four years are scheduled to be sent from here in July and will involve 1,500,000 bushels, much of which will be sent to Europe.

However, if some higher priority produce needs shipping the grain may have to take second place, the paper said.

"At the present time it is anticipated that a slackening of lumber and ore concentrate shipments at that time will make shipping space available for grain."

WOULD BE WELCOME

Londoners Would Like Marshal Stalin To Pay Them A Visit

LONDON.—Five thousand persons at an Albert Hall meeting marking the third anniversary of the Anglo-Soviet alliance applauded speakers who urged Marshal Stalin visit London. If he did, British authorities "would see Londoners in their tens of thousands turn out to cheer 'Uncle Joe,'" said Rev. W. A. Dwyer Waterhouse, chairman of the British Soviet council.

EXPECTED THAT THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER WILL BE IN FORCE BEFORE END OF YEAR

SAN FRANCISCO.—A sufficient number of the United Nations may adopt the United Nations' charter in time to bring it into effect before the end of 1945.

This was the prospect shown in a poll conducted at the world security conference by The Associated Press. Out of the first 26 nations to reply to a questionnaire, 20 predicted ratification by their home governments before the end of the year, none raised any bar to ratification, six declined to fix a probable date.

Assuming United States senate approval, as indicated by senators' replies to an Associated Press canvass in Washington, the feeling expressed by delegates here was that a real landslide of favorable votes by small nations would follow.

All of the major powers—Britain, the United States, Russia, France and China, plus 25 of the other 45 members of the United Nations must ratify it before the charter can become effective.

The United States, Britain and China, together with 18 small nations replying to the current questionnaire, already have been placed on the line as probable signatories before Jan. 1, 1946.

If Russia and France complete the Big Five lineup quickly the full force of the new world organization

SWINE INDUSTRY

Advocate Breeding Research Stations For The West

SASKATOON.—Establishment in western Canada of a special swine breeding research station to be co-ordinated with the Dominion experimental farm systems and other institutions which might co-operate with it was called for by the Canadian Society of Animal Production at its annual meeting here. The proposal was embodied in the report of the society's swine improvement committee, presented by Dr. R. D. Sinclair, University of Alberta, Edmonton.

In order to provide for continuity and to co-ordinate the work of all agencies engaged in swine improvement, the committee recommended a national swine committee be set up under the advisory committee on agricultural services.

"The swine industry is extremely important in the general economy of western Canada," Dr. Sinclair said. "In view of the large proportion of swine marketings in this area which enter the export trade, it is vital that everything possible be done to bring about speedy improvement in quality."

A. W. Peterson, federal department of agriculture, Ottawa, told the meeting improvement of bacon type hogs in Canada was urgent. There was better bacon in eastern Canada than in western Canada because the east had more purebred hogs. There must be a continued mass movement of purebred bacon hogs to improve the quality."

USED AS EVIDENCE

S.S. Men Cannot Escape Charge Of Murdering War Prisoners

LONDON.—The murder of 19 Canadian prisoners of war by German S.S. troops in the Normandy beach-head last June probably will be included as evidence in any general indictment of S.S. men before the International War Crimes tribunal, it was learned reliably.

The atrocity was committed June 8, 1944, when 19 members of the Royal Winnipeg Rifles, taken prisoner, were murdered by troops of the 12th S.S. Hitler Jugend division near Peve, Normandy. This was the finding of a military court of inquiry announced by Gen. Crerar, Canadian commander, Aug. 2.

It was the worst crime committed by the German army against Canadians in the field during the war.

IN FRENCH HANDS

PARIS.—Five hundred German minor war criminals are in French hands, it has been announced. Evidence against 64 is ready while the cases against the rest are in various stages of investigation.

almost certainly will come into effect this year.

Ratification prediction ranged from a "few weeks" in the case of China to "the earliest practicable date" in the case of the Philippines.

In several instances as in Britain, Norway, Belgium, Greece, the delegations said that forthcoming elections would govern the date of ratification.

Against the unanimous prediction of final ratification the comments of the various delegations formed a varying background. Asked whether they considered the San Francisco conference a complete or partial success of failure, some prefaced their statements with "ifs" or "buts."

India, for instance, said the parley was "as great a success as can be expected in the present state of international affairs."

Britain, Honduras, Paraguay, Peru, South Africa and the Dominican Republic came right out and termed the conference a complete success.

TO DEVASTATE JAPAN

WASHINGTON.—The house of representatives appropriations committee approved a $38,500,285,951 supply bill for the war department to help the army carry out its plans to devastate Japan "at the earliest possible date."

ITALIANS HUNGRY

Crowds Parade In Milan Asking For Bread And Work

MILAN.—Crowds asking bread and work and a more severe purge of Fascists paraded before Allied military government offices as it was learned that anti-Fascists had broken into two northern Italian jails and machine-gunned imprisoned Fascists.

Thirty-five Fascists, 30 of them in jails at Ferrara and Modena, have been slain. Another 28 have been wounded some of them fatally. The Modena shootings were first reported last Tuesday.

Earlier in the week, when crowds began to hoot and whistle at Italian police guards at the Milan suburb of Sesto San Giovanni, where 1,000 Fascists are held, Allied tanks intervened.

ILLEGAL EXECUTIONS

ROME.—Ferduccio Parisi, new premier of Italy, appealed to northern Italians to stop "arbitrary acts of justice and illegal executions." He declared in his first broadcast to the nation that such acts "compromise us with the Allies and, above all, offend our sense of justice."

FILL UNIVERSITY VACANCIES

WINNIPEG.—Hon. J. C. Dryden, Manitoba minister of education, has announced appointments to fill two vacancies on the University of Manitoba board of governors. They are Paul G. Duval, Winnipeg barrister, and Harold S. Fry, associate editor of The Country Guide. Both appointments are for a three-year term.

COUNTRESS BALDWIN DIES—

Countess Baldwin, wife of Earl Stanley Baldwin, prime minister of Britain from 1923 to 37, died at their home at Astley Hall, Worcester-shire, England.

MEAT FOR EUROPE

New Zealand Is Planning To Slaughter Horses And Goats

AUCKLAND, N.Z.—Europe may receive horse and goat meat from New Zealand. Dominion meat exporters responding to an appeal by the New Zealand Meat Board, are planning to increase their shipments by slaughtering horses and goats for the first time in the country's history, it was announced. Western European countries are said to be the probable destination of the shipments.

WHEN GENERALS TOASTED EUROPEAN VICTORY—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, welcomed home at Washington and New York, whispers something in the ear of Marshal Georgi Zhukov of Russia when Allied leaders toasted the European victory over the Nazis at Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany, June 10. At left is Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery.

R.A.F. LANCASTER'S FLIGHT TO THE NORTH POLE—The British built Lancaster "Aries" which flew round the world on a navigational mission to the Pacific in the autumn of 1941, is now being used in a series of flights over the geographical and magnetic North Pole. The flights are being made mainly to study navigation in Polar conditions and to examine the behavior of certain equipment. The expedition which is from the Empire Air Navigation School of R.A.F. Flying Training Command at Shawbury, Eng. is headed by Wing Commander D. C. McKinley, D.F.C., A.F.C. THE BIG THREE MEETING IN BERLIN TO SEEK FORMULA FOR PERMANENT WORLD PEACE

INDEPENDENCE Missouri. President Truman told a cheering home town rally that he hoped the Big Three meeting near Berlin next month would find a formula for a final peace treaty that "will insure the peace for generations to come."

Speaking at a homecoming rally a few hours after he announced he had picked Edward R. Stettinius as United States representative to the United Nations, accepting his resignation as secretary of state immediately, the president declared he looked upon the Big Three meeting as one of a series of ordeals he is facing.

He saw two jobs ahead of him, to win the war and "find a peace that will work."

"That is all I shall devote my time to from now on," he declared and the upwards of 12,000 people who jammed the Latter Day Saints auditorium cheered lustily.

He had faced many ordeals of late, the president said, beginning with his nomination for the vice-presidency last July "over my protest" when he had to face the Democratic national committee for a speech.

The next ordeal, he said, was when he was summoned to the White House last April to be notified by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt that the former president had died.

Other ordeals, he continued, meant facing congress with a program and appearance before delegates to the United Nations conference.

Now, he said, he had come home to face his friends and neighbors "who expect impossible things of me."

"I shall attempt, as I have before, in other crises, to do my best, but don't expect too much of me."

Then he discussed his forthcoming meeting with Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill, asserting:

"I have another ordeal facing me in the so-called Big Three meeting when we will attempt the preliminaries of a peace treaty which we hope will insure the peace for a generation to come."

"We can't afford to have spilled the blood of the cream of the manhood of all the United Nations without a just reward. We can't allow that expenditure of life to have been in vain."

He said he thought "all the people of the United States are just as anxious as I am to have a peace that will stand."

The president made public a letter, dated at Independence, in which he praised Mr. Stettinius' work at the United Nations security conference, and told him he wanted him to take the leadership in building "a solid structure of peace" from the charter completed at San Francisco.

The president said Mr. Stettinius had agreed to accept nomination as American representative on the United Nations organization when it comes into being, serving as United States member of the security council and chairman of the United States delegation in the larger general assembly.

Troops Will Be In Germany For Many Years

BAD SALSFULEN, Germany.—The pattern of Canada's future army is already taking shape, and it is certainly now evident that Ottawa intends making it a substantial one for some years to come.

Factors other than Canada's share in policing Germany and the assault on Japan now appear to figure more in the picture than they did three months ago and it is easily possible that as many as 200,000 Canadians will be in uniform a year from today.

The Dominion is apparently committed to provide a force of at least 35,000 troops, which include both army and air, in Germany and with reinforcements and administrative needs in Britain, will mean a total on this side of at least 50,000.

Montgomery's statement that we may occupy Germany for 20 years does not necessarily mean Canadians will continue to keep the commitment at the present figure that long, but it is currently believed the Canadians will be here at least five years, though there will possibly be some tapering off in numbers.

The American occupation force is reported at 400,000. That of the other allies is not clear, though the British have three corps, and these include Canadians.

If there are two division corps it would mean one Canadian soldier to five British, and three division corps, the proportion would be one to eight, and it seems likely the total force in the British zone will be not less than a quarter million.

Manpower contributions of the smaller interested democracies is not indicated. It is quite possible the Belgians, Dutch and the Scandinavian countries might provide troops under British command, but the extent will possibly be governed by the re-building programs necessary in their own countries.

At present, draftee reinforcements brought from Canada since last Christmas make up the bulk of the small force slated for the taken occupation of Berlin next month, as well as the larger force commanded by Vokes which will take over the job in north central Germany on a semi-permanent basis.

Some 6,000,000 refrigerators will be in demand immediately after the war; in 1941 the number built was approximately 3,700,000.

Cigarette Fund Notes

OVERSEAS WELFARE FUND
"Citizens of Coleman," our boys overseas are still looking forward to the "Legion Cigarettes." Don't let them down. By the amount of cards and letters received, cigarettes are more than welcome. Do not forget, the boys still have a job to finish. Thank you—Overseas Welfare Fund.

Dear Friends: Thank you once more for the 300 cigarettes I have just received. Everyone now is wondering when he will get home. I have not the foggiest idea of when I will make it.—J. T. Dunbar.

Dear Friends: I am still receiving the cigs and thanks a lot. I hope to be able to write and let you know that I will be on my way home soon. My number should soon come up, and then for Canada, I hope.—G. Burchell.

Dear Friends: Received 300 SC's a few days ago and having just come off leave they were gladly received, so thanks a million.—Al. Read.

Dear Sirs: Received cigarettes safely. Thank you all very much. Hope to be home soon. Have heard no information yet, but hope to do so. It will be good to get home again when the time does come. Best regards to all my friends. Best of luck to everyone.—Alfred Jones.

Dear Sirs: Many thanks for the parcel of cigarettes, which I received this week.—J. Panek.

Dear Comrades: Received your usual gift of cigs and I wish to thank all those who are responsible for same. At the moment we're transporting "Gerry" prisoners back to their depots and thus helping the demobbing of the so-called "Master Race." I'll take a few months before I'm back to civies again as they say they've got a lot of work to be done before this branch goes back. I'm only a few miles from Denmark and I'm endeavoring to get into that country to look up relatives on my "Dad's side," and with a little luck I might make it yet. Well, they say we will all be home for Xmas and "that's all I ask," but "the sooner" couldn't be too soon for me, and how!—L. A. Caroe.

Dear Comrades: Just a note to express my sincerest thanks for the last three parcels of cigs I have received. They are as important in our lives as ever, even though the war is over. We have hopes of seeing home before Xmas and can thank some of the people personally for their untiring efforts in keeping us so well supplied. Cheerio and thanks again.—O. Hirsch.

Dear Sirs: Thank you once more for 300 Sweet Caps just received. They are as sweet very much appreciated. Hope everyone in the old town is fine as this leaves me at present. I hope it won't be many months before I can return to Canada. I am still in Holland near Arnhem at the present time. Have been up to Amsterdam and Hilversum several times. They are nice places. We have been having lots of rain here. We are all very much interested in the election results at the present time so hope the right man wins. Well, we are busy turning in some of our equipment and stores so I'll just say "thanks" again for the cigs. Best regards to all.—Archie Wragg.

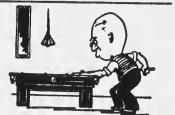

Dear Sirs: Received 600 cigarettes from your Overseas Welfare Fund today, and wish to extend my thanks to you and all the members of the club. It's very good of you all to still send us boys cigarettes, even though the war on our side is all over. We still appreciate your kindness, as smokes are as hard as ever to get.

It won't be long now before most of us will be back home, where we will be able to help you carry on your good work for the boys that are left behind over here and also for the boys that are to go over to the Pacific theatre. We all know what it is to go short of smokes, so I'm sure you'll get our full support just as soon as we get back.

All is going swell with us at present, although my section end myself are still kept busy with our dispatch work. Hoping that all is going well back in the Pass, which we all look to see once again.

Thanks once again and best of luck to all.—J. Andreashak.

Dear Sirs: Received 300 Sweet Caps yesterday. Many thanks as my supply was practically nil. Things are quiet over here now. Everyone is anxious to get on the move to Canada, I imagine it will take a little time though. I expect to leave this unit soon, as it is an eastern unit and from what I understand they are going to try and get everyone into their own military districts and send drafts home that way. I don't know how long it will take, but hope I'm back before Xmas. I haven't seen a Journal for some time, but should be getting one soon. I understand you had quite a victory celebration. I also had a good one. We in Belgium on a short leave at the time, so thoroughly enjoyed myself. Hope everyone is fine and hope to be able to thank you personally in the near future. Regards to all.—O. Barrington.
